B. ELIGIBILITY

Production and performance categories

- Programmes must have had their first transmission in the UK between 1 January and 31 December 2017 on terrestrial, cable, satellite or digital channels, including web-based broadcasters who commission content (e.g. Netflix, Amazon)
- Programmes may be regional or networked
- Programmes will be considered for one category only
- Unless otherwise specified in the rules of the individual category, all programmes must have a minimum scheduled running time of 30 minutes. This can include commercial breaks
- For a programme to qualify for the Virgin TV British Academy Television Awards, the programme must have had the worldwide premiere transmission in the UK
- The programme should have been initiated and developed in the UK with creative control residing within the UK, and/or a UK broadcaster must have the primary editorial control over the programme
- Where your programme falls outside of this eligibility, it can only be considered in the International category
- Programmes previously entered into the British Academy Children's Awards or the EE British Academy Film Awards are not eligible for the Virgin TV British Academy Television Awards
- Programmes that are self-commissioned and published are not eligible for the Virgin TV British Academy Television Awards

If you are in any doubt about the eligibility for your programme please contact the Awards team on awards@bafta.org

OTHER BAFTA AWARDS CEREMONIES

BAFTA also presents awards for film (the EE British Academy Film Awards), for games (the British Academy Games Awards) and awards for work made for children (the British Academy Children's Awards).

Programmes entered into the Virgin TV British Academy Television Awards cannot also be entered into these other awards.

Programmes that are commissioned by the children's department and/or are intended for an audience of 16 and under should be entered for the British Academy Children's Awards.

Dramas or documentaries with running times of over 70 minutes may be eligible for the EE British Academy Film Awards and the Virgin TV British Academy Television Awards, but cannot be entered for both. If a work is eligible for both, the first exhibition (anywhere in the world) will be used to define which awards it should be entered into.

- If the work receives its first exhibition theatrically (including at festivals), it should be entered to the EE British Academy Film Awards
- If the work receives its first exhibition as a television broadcast, or via digital distribution, it should be entered to the Virgin TV British Academy Television and/or the British Academy Television Craft Awards*
- If the work is released into cinemas and on television, or via digital distribution, on the same day, the entrant may choose which ceremony to enter

Dramas, documentaries or animations with running times of between three minutes and 20 minutes may be eligible for the short film categories of the EE British Academy Film Awards and the Short Form category of the Virgin TV British Academy Television Awards, but cannot be entered for both. In this case, the principle of first exhibition will generally apply; films that have been first shown at a film festival should be entered into the Film Awards, programmes that were first shown on television or online should be entered into the Television Awards. However, content which originates from a broadcaster will generally be expected to be entered into the Television Awards regardless of its first exhibition.

For details of eligibility for the EE British Academy Film Awards, please see separate rules and guidelines at awards.bafta.org/entry

Work which receives its first exhibition theatrically, but is not eligible for the EE British Academy Film Awards may be eligible for the Virgin TV British Academy Television Awards if it is subsequently broadcast in the UK.

Programmes that have previously had a theatrical release and then have been re-cut for television are ineligible unless a significant amount of new material has been shot specifically for the television broadcast.

C. ENTRY

- All entries should be made via the entry site <https://entry.bafta.org/> and more information about the video specifications can be found on page six of this document
- The BAFTA awards entry website will be open for entries from 09:00 Monday 9 October until 17:00 on Friday 1 December 2017. Entries for programmes that are broadcast between 1 January – 30 November 2017 received after the deadline will not be accepted after this date and will not be eligible for future awards. Supporting videos should also be uploaded by this date
- The deadline for programmes that are transmitted 1- 31 December 2017 is 17:00 on Thursday 4 January 2018
- On the entry website, a synopsis of no more than 1,000 characters will also be requested. This should be a factual synopsis of the episode or the series. It should not include any details of other awards won, ratings or media quotes. BAFTA reserves the right to edit any text that does not meet these criteria

Production Categories

- There is a fee per entry of £426.00 (£355.00 + £71.00 VAT)
- The fee per entry for the short form category is £213.00 (£177.50 + £35.50 VAT)
- Entries for the production categories can be submitted by producers, directors, broadcasters, independent production companies and BAFTA members
- Specials or one-offs from series with continuing narratives and/or characters should be categorised in the same way as an episode from the series would have been
- At the entry stage, entrants will be asked to propose names of up to four individuals who would be listed as nominees if the programme receives a nomination. These are the 'candidates for nomination'. Failure to propose names may render your entry invalid
 - There must be careful consideration of who is proposed for nomination candidates as changes cannot be made once nominations have been announced
 - The names submitted must be those that have made the most creative contribution to the programme. If there is any uncertainty around those names, BAFTA will revert to the individuals that have been credited on the episode submitted, as this is the episode that the work is being judged upon. For scripted pieces, the BAFTA Television Committee would expect the writer, director and producer to be credited
 - When supplying names of the candidates for nomination, BAFTA will only accept names if they are part of the creative production team. Commissioning editors and executives who work within the broadcaster commissioning teams will not be accepted

- If candidates for nomination cannot be decided upon, you may opt to list 'Production Team' as the nomination credit. In this case, you will be asked to supply up to four names of representatives from the team, along with their role on the project. These representatives will be the person(s) who receives the nomination certificate(s) and, should the programme go on to win, they will also be presented with the winner certificate(s) and award(s). Please note that in this case, it is the programme that is being recognised, not the individuals, and these individuals will not be able to refer to themselves as BAFTA nominees or winners

Performance Categories

- There is no entry fee for performance categories
- Entries for the performance categories can be submitted by producers, directors, broadcasters, independent production companies and BAFTA members. Entry deadline is 17:00 on Friday 1 December except for BAFTA members, who have until 17:00 Thursday 4 January 2018 to make an entry
- For the Lead and Supporting Actor and Actress categories, the category in which individuals are placed is determined by the voters' selection in Round One voting: the performer will be placed in the category in which they received the largest proportion of votes. All votes cast for that individual in both the supporting and leading categories will be counted
- Our voting system does not permit voters to cast more than one vote per performer (i.e. place a performer in both the leading and supporting categories). The entrant may indicate which category they wish a performer to be considered for on the entry form and this may be taken into consideration when necessary

Correct entry information is the responsibility of the entrant. BAFTA is not liable for errors in listings that are the result of incorrect information being submitted on the entry form. BAFTA cannot be held responsible for programmes being entered in the wrong categories.

MAKING PROGRAMMES AVAILABLE TO VOTERS AND JURORS

Round One Voting

- Entrants should make their programmes available to BAFTA members for review via BAFTA's viewing and voting website. DVD screeners may not be sent to voters
- The viewing site is available to BAFTA members from Monday 13 November 2017. We strongly encourage all entrants to upload videos supporting their entries as early as possible, as this will give BAFTA members a greater opportunity to view all material under consideration
- The viewing site is username and password-protected via 2-step verification, and is only accessible by BAFTA members eligible to vote in the Virgin TV British Academy Television Awards and the British Academy Television Craft Awards. Videos may be available to either stream or download until Monday 29 January 2018. After this date, videos will only be available to BAFTA jurors. For further information on the security controls in place to protect streamed and downloaded content, please contact awards@bafta.org
